TEACHERS SALARY HIKE MAY RAISE TAX RATE BY 6 CENTS

Salaries for 146 Palm Springs school teachers were elevated to a new high in an all-inclusive program unanimously approved by the Board of Education last night.

The new salary schedule, adopted as a "compromise" program, provides salary increases ranging from $400 for the lowest teacher category to $525 for the highest.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS said the salary increases will add $67,325 to next year's fiscal budget, and may raise district taxes, currently the lowest in the state, as much as six cents.

Board members adopted the schedules last night after several weeks of prolonged study with the Palm Springs Teachers Association and a joint teacher-school board salary committee.

BASICALLY, THE proposal drafted by the board and recommended by the teachers association provides increases of $400, $450, $475 and $525 respectively for four categories of school district teachers.

Regarded as the most important facet in the new schedule is the elevation of starting teacher salaries from $4,800 to $5,200. Board members feel that this is a step necessary to attract new teachers to the district.

THE DISTRICT'S formerly low-rated starting salary — termed low by comparison with other districts — prevented the district from securing the services of teachers "fresh out of college," school administrators reported.

Originally, the teachers association submitted a series of six proposed basic salary schedules. The most highly favored plan called for increases ranging from $400 for teachers on the bottom step to more than $700 for teachers on the top.

BUT THE BOARD, operating with a noticeable lack of the frequently heated debates that punctuated past salary discussions, came up with their own compromise plan that carried an implicit promise to work out a "merit system" to determine top-level salaries in the future.

School board members indicated that although the new program boosts the salary budget by $67,325, it will have little effect on the district tax rate.

Schools List. Dwight Twist prepared a list of the state's 97 unified school districts that had Palm Springs on the bottom with a rate of $1.33.

Mrs. Lauritz Hansen, Here 30 Years, Succumbs Today

Mrs. Agnete Hansen, for 30 years a leading Palm Springs social and civic worker, died early this morning of a cerebral hemorrhage at Desert Hospital.

MRS. HANSEN was the wife of Lauritz Hansen, a building contractor, and the couple made their home in Palm Springs for the past 30 years.

A native of Denmark, Mrs. Hansen was very active with the American Red Cross, Palm Springs Chapter; the Welfare and Friendly Aid Society; and was an active member of the Desert Hospital Auxiliary.

HOSPITALIZED LAST weekend, Mrs. Hansen succumbed to a second stroke.

Churchill to Visit Ike for 3 Days

AUGUSTA, Ga. — UPI — The White House announced today that former British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill will visit President Eisenhower for three days in May.

The British leader has had a long-standing invitation to visit his old friend of World War II and was forced to cancel a trip to Washington last year because of illness.

From Water District

Meeting to Plan Secession Move

Dr. Charles A. Reagan, Palm Springs area developer, today launched a new campaign for secession — a secession from the Coachella Valley County Water District, that is.

Dr. Reagan, who has planned development of 1,200 acres of land adjacent to Palm Springs, has called a meeting of resort area property owners in the district's jurisdiction to discuss secession.

THE MEETING, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Sunday, at the clubhouse of Reagan's Fairways Trailer Park, will concern organization of a "Riverside County Taxpayers Association."

Principal goal of the association, he said, will be secession from the Coachella Valley County Water District and formation of a new alliance with the Riverside County Water District.

"We've been paying taxes into the Coachella Valley district for years," he declared, "but they never spent a cent on flood control projects here."

DR. REAGAN ACCUSED the district and its director, Lowell Weeks, of ignoring the plight of Palm Springs area for the sake of Coachella Valley farmers and developers east of the resort city.

He based his claims on allegations that the district has "re-spokesman George Scholl claimed that increased property evaluation next year will somewhat offset the budget increase.

"But even if the rate is increased by six cents," it was pointed out, "the Palm Springs district will probably still be lowest in taxes because other districts will increase proportionately."

Based on the current tax table, a six-cent increase would raise Palm Springs but one notch — to 96th — on the state's unified school district tax rate chart.

Mountainside Bears Down on Mining Village

DECAZEVILLE, France UPI — A giant landslide was bearing down today on a mining village in southern France, crushing houses and trees in its path.

A whole mountainside, loosened by torrential rains pounding the southern end of the Massif Central in the Aveyron Department, was set in motion Thursday.

Today it was moving at a speed of 33 feet an hour towards Lestang, a small hamlet inhabited by miners working in the nearby Combes coal mines.

The 60 inhabitants of Lestang were hastily moved out.

PRINCESS MARGARET, BRIGITTE BARDOT STAGE 80 MPH RACE

LONDON UPI — Cars carrying Princess Margaret and Brigitte Bardot staged a neck-and-neck 80-mile an hour "race" through London's western outskirts Thursday. The princess won.

The incident happened just after the sexy French actress arrived at London Airport and was driving into London in a fast Hummer.

Brigitte's car pulled up at a stoplight outside the airport. A big Rolls Royce drew abreast.

"Eet is the princess. Eet is Margaret," Brigitte cried as she recognized the royal occupant of the Rolls.

The two big cars started off towards London together. For 10 miles along the Great West Road they nudged speeds of 80 miles an hour on the fast highway which has no speed limit.

Margaret's car drew ahead and rolled up a 30-yard lead. Then Brigitte's chauffeur narrowed the gap.

Just as they drew almost level, a traffic light turned yellow and Brigitte's chauffeur screeched to a stop. Margaret's Rolls was far enough ahead to get through it and away.

5 Architects Named for Junior College

Board Selects 4 Local Firms, San Franciscan

Four Palm Springs architectural firms and one San Francisco designer were today identified as the "architectural team" selected to map construction of the new College of the Desert.

Architects named by the Coachella Valley Junior College District Board of Trustees were John Porter Clark and the firms of Wexler and Harrison, Williams and Williams and Frey and Chambers.

THE BOARD designated John Carl Warnecke, of San Francisco, as "master plan and design architect" and named Clark as "senior" architect.

Last night's board action capped several months of intensive research on the merits of some 25 applicants for the job of designing the new desert area junior college.

But their final method of selection was regarded as an "unusual departure" from nominating procedures, according to Gail Brumwell, district administrative assistant.

BRUMWELL SAID most of the applicants were originally teamed up in "coalitions" with other firms so that each individual application involved two or more separate firms.

But the board asked that the architects named "disassociate" themselves and make themselves individually available for contracts on school construction, Brumwell explained.

The board decision must now be ratified by the architects chosen. They must indicate whether or not they will accept the board's request to "disassociate."

IN DIVIDING THE duties of the chosen six, the board identified Clark as the "coordinating architect," charged with the task of organizing the efforts of his co-architects.

Warnecke carries the title of master plan and design architect, "whose quality of architectural design is nationally recognized."

The remaining firms will carry out the work on individual buildings.

THE BOARD'S announcement explained that local firms were chosen, despite "their lack of extensive experience in college planning," because of their familiarity with demands of desert construction and their "close-to-home" location.

At Indio

New Courthouse Now Being Used

INDIO — Superior Judge Hilton McCabe and his staff moved into the spanking new Riverside County Courthouse here yesterday with other county personnel, accompanying the jurist in the move.

The new building, located next door to existing county court facilities at Oasis Avenue and Highway 111, was officially in service beginning with Judge McCabe's first case heard at 9:30 a.m., yesterday.

THE NEW INDIO facility also houses an office of the Riverside County Clerk, offices for court reporters and transcribers, a county law library, chambers for the judge and an office for the judge's RESORT FLOOD CONTROL plans were pointed out by Ray Sorum, chairman of Zone 6 Commission of the County Flood Control District, at the commission's preliminary budget meeting here yesterday. Plans for Tahquitz Creek dikes and condemnation proceedings on land "encroaching"

CONDEMNATION SUIT SET BY FLOOD CONTROL DISTRICT

County flood control commissioners have launched condemnation action on private, Palm Springs property which, they claim, is encroaching on a proposed damsite for Tachevah Canyon.

John Bryant, county flood control engineer, said court action is scheduled for May 22 on condemnation proceedings of five residential lots reportedly owned by Rose Benjamin.

BRYANT REPORTED that appraisers are now at work to determine the value of the property, located in the exclusive Las Palmas area.

The engineer's report was issued at yesterday's preliminary budget meeting of Zone 6 commissioners of the County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

Bryant said that subdividers have erected buildings "right up to the last tier of lots" bordering the site needed for construction of the Tachevah dam.

THE DAM IS THE keystone for a mammoth flood control project designed to channel flood water, via conduits, from the potentially dangerous Tachevah Canyon to unpopulated water spreading grounds.

The engineer noted that basically little work can be done on the Tachevah project, but, he said, "at least we can clear property and rights of way for action once we receive federal appropriations."

BRYANT REPORTED that the Tachevah bill won Senate approval last year but failed to get out of Congress before adjournment. He reported that the Tachevah Bill, now in the Congressional mill, is being help up by the appropriations committee.

Congressman D. S. Saund last week issued similar reports in a session with City Council members and flood commissioners.

New Elementary School Site Given Priority Status

Board of Education members last night authorized Schools Supt. Dwight Twist to seek possible sites for the "immediate" construction of a new Palm Springs elementary school.

The board stamped the school construction plan as a "priority" building item and unanimously voted to proceed immediately with selection of possible sites.

PLANS RECOMMENDED by the Citizens Advisory Committee on school construction call for completion of a new school building by mid-term of the next spring semester, "at the latest."

Voicing their accord, board members also asked the administration to scout the possibilities of acquiring sites for new schools in other area.

"I think the public should be made aware of the fact that we need more classrooms as soon as possible," said Board President Arnold Rumwell. "We must provide new schools."

TWIST SAID THE immediate need for a new school is particularly based on the current enrollment burden carried by Cielo Vista School, now bulging with 482 pupils.

He said the Cielo Vista district is particularly "critical" because of the heavy and rapidly growing student population of that area.

Twist noted that at least $350,000 in bond issue funds is available for construction of the school.

The school was originally marked for Section 14, but planned commercial development of the section and the difficulties encountered in seeking access right-of-way have altered its previous priority status.

U.S. Figures False, Says AFL-CIO Chief

Union Boss Calls Federal Aid 'Detour On Road to Relief'

WASHINGTON UPI — AFL-CIO President George Meany today advocated federal action to make unemployment compensation more than a "mere detour on the road to relief."

Meany presented labor's demand to increase the amount and duration of jobless payments in testimony prepared for the House Ways & Means Committee.

THE AFL-CIO LEADER claimed the U.S. economy has not made a complete recovery. "True unemployment," he said, is now 5,800,000 instead of the 4,362,000 reported by the government for March.

He said the nearly two and one-half million workers on short shifts because of slack production are equal to 1,100,000 full-time unemployed. He said there is additional hidden unemployment because about 300,000 youngsters who would normally enter the labor market are too discouraged to look for jobs.

MEANY URGED passage of a bill that would require states to pay benefits equal to half the weekly wages of most workers for up to 39 weeks.

He said payments, now averaging one-third of lost wages do not come close to paying a family's basic living costs.

"I don't think we are asking for much, but I want to say with all the conviction that I have that this is the difference between a compensation system that is doing the job and one that is a mere detour on the road to relief," he said.

THE ADMINISTRATION, which opposes federal standards, has requested extension of coverage to include 3,200,000 more workers in the jobless insurance program. It says the state should raise benefits.

Meany charged that the unemployment compensation program has been deteriorating ever since it was enacted in 1938 because the states have refused to increase benefits.

He gave these examples: In only five states can a worker receive half his average wage in jobless benefits. In only eight states, do all claimants receive payments for at least 26 weeks.

UNEMPLOYMENT compensation taxes on employers have declined from an average of 4 cents per hour worked in 1939 to 1.3 cents per hour worked in 1958, he said.

Meany said last year's recession showed the need for across-the-board improvements in benefits. He said one-third of the 13 million Americans who were unemployed at one time or another during the year did not receive any benefits. Almost three million recipients exhausted benefits before they found a job, he added.

Hotel Owners Oppose New Bill

Protests against Senate bill 932 which will make it a state law that 6 p.m. is checkout time in California hotels, were filed yesterday by the Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment Association and the Chamber of Commerce. The bill, introduced by Hugh Burns of Fresno, is reportedly backed by the unions who would like to see double shift maid service in hotels and motels throughout the state.

The Senate Committee on Business and Professions is expected to hold a hearing on the bill today. Independent letters protesting the passage of the bill were sent to Sacramento by Alex Crawford, owner of the Crawford Apartments, Bob Levin, owner of the Palm Springs Billmore, Ed Jones, Arenas Lodge, and the California State Hotel Association.

"I have the district's books for 1956, 1957 and 1958, and I propose to have them audited to show just where the money goes," he said.

DR. REAGAN explained that he has, since 1956, attempted to secure County Planning Commission approval for three large housing subdivision projects and one trailer park. The Coachella Valley district ruled that "certain parts" were flood hazards, Reagan charged, so he built his own dikes. "I spent $39,000 to have engineers design and install dikes for 120 acres," Reagan said, "but I have a total of 1,209 acres to develop."

Reagan received county approval for construction of the trailer park and the 39-lot tract protected by the dike, but claimed he is unable to get action from the district on flood protection for the rest of his acreage.

"I can't get approval to build because the district claims the land is hazardous," he said.

Reagan said he wants secession from the district "so we'll get a square deal on flood protection around here."

4 PERFORMANCES FEATURE 'DOG IN THE MAN SUIT' PLAY

By GEORGE LAINE
Four standout performances — by Phyllis Flax, Michael Ferrall, Marrian Walters and Jessie Glendinning — keep the "Dog in the Man Suit" from being just another play this week at the Palm Springs Playhouse.

All four manage to create an instantaneous communication with their roles and that's both commendable and understandable. A NEWCOMER to this reviewer is Dr. Howard Benninghoff who acquitted himself well on the night I saw him. Cast as a somewhat erratic old man who believes he can rise straight off the floor — like a helicopter — Benninghoff moves in such a manner as to convince everyone he can really do it. (In fact, I was more than a little disappointed when he didn't accomplish the feat. Maybe he'll do it before the week's out.)

Another performer who hasn't been impressive before is George Byrne. The chief fault has been his lack of realism. In "Dog," he converts that liability into almost a status of asset as he plays a mama's boy with striking realism.

Also in the cast are Christy Palmer, William Hughes, Jack Harris and Curtis Ross. Miss Palmer and Hughes, the two leads manage to miss a large portion of the impact of the message contained within the play.

Harris just isn't a snob type and Ross apparently got his part late. The "old pros" at the Playhouse — Flax, Ferrall and Walters — do an admirable job, however, and it is therein that the merit of the effort exists.

What's in the Stars
CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — An ultraviolet prism, the first of its kind in the United States, will permit astronomers at Case Institute of Technology to analyze the invisible radiations given off by stars 6,000 times as bright as the sun.

The prism, which is two feet in diameter and weighs 72 pounds, breaks up the star's radiations into a band of rays which can be photographed. Study of the band shows astronomers the luminosity and chemical composition of these distant stars.

Maude Kennedy Services Held This Morning

Funeral services were conducted today for Maude Louise Kennedy, 69, of 578 South Calle Encina, who died Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Floyd, of 4017 East Sunny Dunes Road.

A native of Saginaw, Mich., Mrs. Kennedy was a Palm Springs area resident for the past eight years and had lived in California for 17 years.

She was the widow of William Kennedy, who died here in November, 1957.

Mrs. Kennedy leaves one son, Robert, of El Cajon; three daughters, Mrs. Floyd and Mrs. Ann Bell, of Palm Springs, and Mrs. D. C. Williams, of Roggen, Colo.; nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Rosary was recited at Wiefels and Son Mortuary Chapel last night and funeral mass was conducted at St. Theresa's Catholic Church this morning by Rev. Michael O'Donohue. Interment followed at Desert Memorial Park.

The first four wheel auto brake was invented by Otto Zachow and William Besserdich in Los Angeles, California and placed in service in July 1929.

DEDICATED TO THE CONVENIENCE AND PARKING EASE OF PALM SPRINGS SHOPPERS

PRETTY PATTI O'QUINN's job as "Miss Lucky Parker" at Palm Springs' Cameron Center is to spot lucky license plates through her binoculars. Chances are, though, that Miss O'Quinn, a top Powers model, will win more glances than the license plates Cameron Center parkers, whose license plates are photographed by a mystery photographer, receive a potted palm tree donated by the 12-acre shopping mart's owner, George Cameron, Jr. Photos of the winning plates are published in The Desert Sun each Saturday and owners may claim their prize at the office of Russell Wade, 850 South Palm Canyon Drive.

Art of Glass-Blowing to Be Demonstrated Next Week

Craftsman John Burton will demonstrate his prowess in the ancient art of glass-blowing in a three-day program at the Palm Springs Desert Museum next week.

Burton plans to demonstrate his glass-blowing techniques from 1 to 4 p.m. April 15 and 16. He will cap his presentation with a lecture-demonstration at 8 p.m., April 17.

IN ADDITION TO his lectures and demonstrations, Burton will exhibit 35 multi-hued specimens of his color-fused glasswork from April 13 through 17 at the museum.

Burton, who has a rare talent for blending colors into his delicately contrived glass, works entirely without the aid of molds.

Born in England, Burton has lived on the West Coast since 1932. He now practices his glass making art in a studio on his 20-acre San Fernando Valley ranch.

BURTON'S INTEREST in glass developed while he was serving as a metallurgist with the British Navy. He had to make glass for scientific purposes and became interested in the intricacies of overlays and colors in glass making.

He has several classes in glass making and is planning to train teachers for art centers.

Burton currently has many specimens of his work on display in the Corning Glass Museum. His work has been exhibited at the Los Angeles Municipal Art Museum and the California Palace of the Legion of Honor Museum in San Francisco.

ANIMAL SHELTER PLANS SPEEDED

An on-the-site conference between SPCA officials for Southern California and local officials of the Animal Protective League of Palm Springs is expected to speed construction of the new animal shelter here, it was announced today.

Mrs. Kenneth Grow, president of the local organization, accompanied George Crosier, Los Angeles manager of the SPCA, and Donald S. Gill, a Los Angeles architect, to the site for discussions and evaluation.

THE SITE, LOCATED on an acre of land on Camino Parocela at the eastern city limits of Palm Springs, is to be developed as a shelter embodying the most modern, most efficient features of such construction.

Crosier and Gill both indicated that the readily accessibility of the location to all desert regions was a vital asset to the organization and would provide a location that should serve the desert in the face of growing population.

GILL'S LATEST shelter plan — currently in use at Laguna Beach — is to be applied here, the League has decided. The expense of drafting new plans for use here has thus been averted, the League pointed out.

Additional expense is also being averted through the technical advice of both Crosier and Gill. An impressive total of years served in their present capacities by the pair has already rendered great assistance, the League noted.

Both of these moves, the League indicated, will enable the organization to gain support from both local and county bodies.

The insurance offices of R. W. Davis and Clarence Brechlin, housed in the same building as the Fleetwood Investment Corporation here, are not under the jurisdiction of the Fleetwood firm as was implied in information that appeared in the Desert Sun recently.

The two men operate independent agencies and are not associated with other organizations.

During 1957, 79,631,000 people in this country had an auto operator's license.

Date Committee Nominations Due Monday

INDIO — Meetings will be held in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Fruit and Vegetable Division here Monday for the purpose of entering nominations for membership on the Date Administrative Committee.

The USDA agency has invited date producers and handlers to submit membership nominations at that time.

The membership is composed of one member from handlers, three members from cooperative marketing associations and three members from all other handlers and producers. Members and alternate members will serve on the committee until May 14, 1960.

In 1900 surveys indicated that there were less than 8,000 automobiles in the U.S., and less than 10 miles of concrete pavement. Today there are 5,982,342 registered auto's on over 56,000 miles of surfaced roads.

Desert Needs Own County For Progress, Service and Lower Taxes

A relatively few years ago the area from the Pass east to the Colorado River was considered suitable for nature lovers, hermits, sun worshipers, eccentrics and prospectors. While it represented three-fourths of the geographical area of the second largest county in the state, its population was negligible and its inhabitants were rated along with "mad dogs and eccentrics" by the residents of cultural and political centers of the area, namely the city of Riverside.

In the past two decades all that has changed. The advent of the All-American Canal nurtured an agricultural growth that annually totals millions of dollars; exploitation of the Salton Sea for recreation and water sports and development of the Palm Springs area as a tourist and golf club utopia, have added many additional millions.

Today, the desert is well on its way to being the "tail" that "wags the dog."

Dollar-wise, it is providing 45 per cent of the county taxes. Population-wise, it now counts approximately 25 per cent of the permanent residents and thousands more who make it their winter home.

In another five years it will be paying more than 50 per cent of the taxes, and in ten years, count more than half of the county's population. County-service-wise, it is receiving far less than its contribution and helping to support a county seat area that it could well get along without. The economy and culture of west Riverside county and the desert are completely dissimilar... as different as oil and water.

Its people, too, are different. The desert is dynamic, adventurous, imaginative and alive. Riverside is decadent, reactionary and living in a past that is symbolized by the musty archives and cellared recesses of its old buildings. Its population numbers the biggest percentage of pensioners and welfare cases of any county in the state.

The political "set-up" of Supervisorial Districts is 50 years behind the times, being the same generally as when the County was organized. The four Riverside Districts are usually against the desert and opposed to progress. Recent passage of bonds for needed county buildings, most of which will be built in the remote western end of a 200 mile long county, was only accomplished by a heavy "yes" vote in the desert area.

City-wise, Riverside voters have twice rejected bonds of necessary municipal buildings and only a visit is necessary to convince an observer of the need for a new police facility, city hall, fire houses, etc. Recently the city closed its jail, unloaded its responsibility on the county... half of which is paid for by desert residents.

To the citizens who are getting tired of "taxation without representation" we say "Hurry, get the campaign in high gear. Let's each donate and get on with it. We need a Desert County."

'I Wonder Which Did Come First'

This Side of The Sun

By Phat

So now we'll sail
 On an even keel
 An admiral's hand
 Is on the wheel.

Pardon me, I just couldn't resist that after I saw in my favorite journal, The Desert Sun, that a rear admiral, Daniel J. Wagner, USN Ret., had been named city manager.

Of course, there were other thoughts, if we're all at sea, we needn't worry now, no barnacles are going to gather and then there was that thing about not being in the dry dock long.

But since I like all of you, I resisted the temptation.

FOR ME, at any rate, the year starts today. Baseball gets under way across the nation and from now on any low-life who swipes the sports sections before I can get at them, is in for a bit of XYZ terminology.

Statistics are the best part of baseball. There are all kinds of them.

Like, for instance, who wore the first baseball glove? Who first caught a ball dropped from the Washington monument?

HOWEVER, I LIKE to look up odd things and the World Book Encyclopedia gave me the answers.

The first catch between a player and an umpire occurred 113 years ago, in 1846, when a baseball player was fined six cents for cussing on the field of play.

The game was between the New York Knickerbockers and the New York team — no nickname.

You would know it — that also was the first team baseball game. June 19, 1846.

THEN, BASEBALL was strictly amateur. The first professional team was the Cincinnati Red Stockings, who up to last year, 89 years later, were still called the Redlegs. Now they are just the Reds.

Anyway, before the Red Stockings, back in 1869, to design a money for playing, it was considered unethical to do so.

BASEBALL was strictly a gentleman's game, with a capital G. It still is, only the capital G has been expanded into several syllables.

Now as to the first player to wear a glove. No protective equipment was worn before that. It was sissified to do so.

But in 1875, one Charles Waite, first baseman for Boston, put on a glove — flesh-colored so the fans wouldn't know it.

THEN IN 1878, a Harvard U. catcher, perfected the first mask. He preferred to being called a sissy to having his Barrymore profile bashed.

O. K. about that Washington Monument.

Back in 1892 Bill Shively of Chicago, caught a ball dropped from the 500-foot level of the Washington Monument.

Just a grand-stander — but aren't they all?

STAN DELAPLANE'S Postcard

The latest word from ladies' magazines is that American husbands are beating their wives for a goal.

"Research among college couples shows that one husband in five has struck his wife. The proportion is nearly double among non-college couples."

The editors said this was shocking.

Right now, let us examine this whole situation before we are led up the garden path.

FOR ONE THING, the magazine thinks this situation is shocking because it is not social. They don't give a hoot about the bruises. Nor do they pass out any information on how to dodge.

"Avoid arguments," they advise the clientele. "Gauge his mood."

Gauge his mood? My aching back. You think world's heavyweight champions became champions by gauging moods? Never mind his mood. Gauge his reach.

"Indulge his whims," says the ladies' magazine. "Help him relax."

OF ALL THE WIND in the willows! This man's whim is to beat his wife. What relaxes him is to hammer her like a gong.

It is like those things advising you how to raise a child.

The kid is sawing the cat in half. You should not raise a welt on him. You say, "Wouldn't you rather saw Daddy in half?"

"Nope," says the moppet. "Rather saw the cat."

"How about taking an ax to the piano?"

"None. Don't like the piano. Like the cat."

You keep on like this and by-and-by the little tyke will take off on some more constructive project. Like dynamiting the next plane.

A LADY SHOULD, from the reasoning of the magazine, declare: "Why, Joe. You have a terrific right hand. And unless I am mistaken you have raised a mouse under my eye that should last a week."

"However, wouldn't you rather eat your pork chops now?"

"Heck, no," he says. "Let me try that short cross again."

BAM!

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Gov. Orval Faubus, warning the federal government that he would not use his police powers to force any federally ordered integration of Little Rock schools.

"I don't think the people of the city are in a mood to take integration."

"I ran into a door in the dark."

SHIRLEY MACLAINE, Gina Lollobrigida and the other five girls (still unselected) in Dapo De Laurentis' "Seven Women" will get their heads shaved right down to the scalp in the picture — their punishment for fraternizing with the Nazis in the World War II yarn.

Wonder what it'll feel like in 1999 when it turns up against company hiring policies that rule out electronic brains over 40 years old?...

EARL WILSON:

Anita Bats for Pat Suzuki

NEW YORK — Anita Ellis, who dubbed songs for Rita Hayworth but couldn't sing for herself under her own name, has finally graduated from psychoanalysis — "magna cum laude."

As "standby" for both Pat Suzuki and Annabelle Hong in "Flower Drum Song," Anita went on three times for Pat one week recently, then did the completely different role of Miss Hong's when she got ill, then returned to Miss Suzuki's role when she once more got laryngitis.

"I even stopped the show!" Anita boldly admitted. "When I sang 'I Enjoy Being a Girl.'"

"Oh, not like Pat does. Oh boy, does she stop it! But I never thought I would."

Anita, daughter of a rich Californian who is state bowling champion, dubbed "Gilda" for Miss Hayworth 12 years ago.

For three years she went to an analyst ("lots of people go for 10 or 15 years") who figured out that her father hated her mother's singing because he loved her; thus if people let her sing, she was unloved. Clear, isn't it?

"If you don't get up there on the floor and sing, I'll quit analyzing you," her analyst threatened her when she was at the Blue Angel.

Why, she even had an understudy — for the "Fantan Fanny" number which Richard Rodgers wrote for her to give her confidence. And as Anita said upon completing her description of how everybody looked out there, "Now I'm going to call my analyst and tell him I want my diploma."

turners... have you ever figured out why you like them? I have. First of all, people like to see people get killed. (It's the humanitarian instinct. I suppose you'd say: love of your fellow man.)

Shakespeare was wise to the gimmick and worked a lot of stabbings into his plays.

Bull fights are still popular in Spain and Mexico, and plenty of people are rooting for the bull, too! Cuba has its cockfights. And at Madison Square Garden somebody had better start bleeding, or he's yellow!

Westerns also teach you history. Oh, they may be off a little as to details. I mean, more people are killed on TV in one night than were killed west of the Mississippi in the entire 19th century.

Westerns also teach you temperance. Sure they do. Why, the liquor drunk in the west, according to these westerns, would have meant that all the covered wagons were carrying booze and no people.

But maybe there's a lesson for all of us in these westerns. Maybe there's a lesson for the performers, especially.

Another thing I've figured out is that there wasn't as much whiskey drinking as we are led to believe by writer Earl L. Tricher of Monroeville, Ala. According to my calculation, it would take 40 wagons on trains and 4,000 horses working steady just to haul in the liquor.

The comedians, who have had it mightily rough lately, have got to join the trend. People in the audience should be able to shoot the comedian when a joke falls flat. I mean with real live ammunition. Milton Berle or Arthur Godfrey could retain a lot of their popularity if they had to be carried off the stage after each show, bleeding at the mouth and nose and ears. . . . Melvyn Don Frick has one of the town's prettiest managers — actress-model Doris Weiss.

TODAY'S DEAD LAUGH: If New York City becomes a separate state, the new flag'll probably carry 50 stars and a No Parking sign.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Consensus is that small, inner voice that tells you an Internal Revenue agent might check your return.

Julie Wilson sang a jazzed-up version of "I Could Write a Book," and composer Richard Rodgers told her jokingly, "I'm really turning in my grave!" That's early, brother.

MIKE CONNOLLY: Oddest Sight of Week

HOLLYWOOD — Oddest Hollywood sight of the week: Former President Harry S. Truman being serenaded with "The Missouri Waltz" in the Beverly Hills Hotel by the Beverly Hills Hotel's Star on the Road — Jascha Heifitz on violin, Liberace on piano! And strictly on lib lib session.

The three men happened to be in the room at the same time. So orchestra leader Manny Harmon coaxed the two musicians to join his own combo for the off-the-cuff salute to Truman.

If you didn't catch those brand-new lyrics written by Irving Berlin for Milti Gynor and the Academy Award winners on last Monday's (April 6) Oscar-cast, here they are (I made Milti write them on my cuff backstage):

There's no business like show business, like no business I know. Making motion pictures can be thrilling; personal appearance, opening nights! Smiling as you watch the theatre filling—and there's your billing out there in lights!

There's no people like show people, they smile when they are low. Yesterday they told you you would not go far, your picture opens and there you are!

Next day on your dressing room they've hung us star—let's go on with the show! Hottest new two in Tinseltown and I do mean serious: Russ Tamblyn, Venetia Stevenson's ex-husband, and Debbie Reynolds. Eddie Fisher's soon-to-be-ex-wife.

Red Skelton says the trouble with this time of the year is everybody's got a tax to grind. Friendship in Hollywood item: Barbara Rush borrowed a mink coat from Ronnie Cowan to go to a party. Not a very exciting item? Not unless you're hip that Ronnie's ex-husband, Warren Cowan, gifted her with the coat — and that Barbara will be the next Mrs. Cowan.

But Times Have Changed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — There is a suspicion that we are training for the autumnal Summit Meeting the way Gene Tunney trained for his two unforgettable fights against Jack Dempsey — by running backwards. Out of an intelligent respect for Dempsey's vaunted punch, Gene got "on the bicycle," as the sportswriters dubbed it, and back-pedaled for dear life in the rough spots. He won both fights.

Whether these would be winning tactics in a diplomatic encounter is hard to foretell, but it's plain that our alternative to Dulles' "inflexibility" is turning out to be something pretty flabby. Mr. Eisenhower does not want to go to the Summit where he was so badly fleeced in 1953 — but he's going.

THE PRESIDENT said he would not retreat "one inch" on the Berlin treaty commitments, but lately he seems willingly to do almost anything for "peace." Whatever else can be said about inflexibility vs. flabbiness as a way of international life, the fact seems to be that we are still permitting the Russians to act and are content ourselves to react.

Perhaps the basic fault in this policy of retreat and reaction is that it ignores the natural dynamism of all human affairs. In everyday language, nothing remains the same. Yet for at least 10 years we have been operating on the assumption that the condition of friend and foe alike is static. This assumption is demonstrably untrue, and our affinity to the untrue has been most hurtful.

FOR EXAMPLE, it is hard to find where the American leadership has noted any change in our allies since the last big Berlin crisis of a decade past. Yet Britain, France and West Germany are now strong enough to resume the old rivalries.

As objective and restrained a source as the Kiplinger Letter has told its readers that President de Gaulle and Prime Minister Macmillan "do not agree on the details of negotiating" and that "there's a bit of rivalry between them to see who is the Biggest Shot in Europe." This understatement of the week might have included a mention that the State Department is furious at the British Foreign Office for resuming its prewar officiousness, and that Adenauer is peeved with Macmillan.

NONE OF THIS means that the Western Alliance is coming apart, but it certainly implies a large degree of self-interest and disagreement among the Free World Nations. Yet the American foreign policy hardly recognizes that the Europe for which the Marshall Plan and NATO were invented is not the same in 1959 as it was in 1948 and '49.

Similarly, the enemy has changed. A new book, "The House of Secrets" by the British Correspondent Gordon Young deals factually with the anti-Communist movement in West Europe and Russia. The author reports interviews with cloak-and-dagger fighters who are in positions to sense mutations in the seemingly impervious Soviet system.

THE SUCCESS among Russlans of the Dudintsev novel, "Not By Bread Alone," with its implicit criticism of Communism, is said to represent a willingness by the Russian people to reform their monolithic government. Another anti-Communist Russian, an editor, holds that the achievements of Soviet scientists has been recognized at home as the triumph of intellect and one that reflects little if any credit upon the Communist party.

Even if only a part of this optimism is justified, there can be little doubt that the Stalin-to-Khrushchev period has seen a change from despotism toward something like collective dictatorship with a dash of democratic responsiveness. Yet we are preparing for a Summit meeting on the argument that Khrushchev alone can speak for his countrymen and for their willingness to risk war over Berlin.

NEARLY EVERY day somebody writes that the unhappy absence of Secretary Dulles from the Allied councils has made a large and unfortunate difference. But has the difference been as significant? To be sure, we have budgeted considerably more than "one inch" in our steadfastness against retreating before the Communists' demands. But our movement from that firm position has not been by initiative and not by imagination.

The sad fact is that we are reacting, we are back-pedaling. And there is no present sign that we have a plan, as Tunney had, to outpoint the hard-punching enemy. —Holmes Alexander.

Lee Cooley, writer and television producer, will moderate the best-seller author panel when Book and Authors Guild holds its third and final luncheon meeting at the Tennis Club on April 21.

He will moderate a panel which will include: David Humphreys Miller, author of "Ghost Dance;" Ruth Baus "Who's Running This Expedition;" Jim Backus, "Rocks on the Roof;" Charlotte Armstrong, "Duo;" J. Kent Clark, "The King's Agent;" He himself is the author for "The Run for Home."

By the time he was 29, Lee Cooley had lived what he considered a "full life." He had done about everything most men only dream of: from punching cattle to sailing the seven seas. He wound up his sea-faring days with a bit of high-level rum-running which paid for a course in cartooning. This earned no fortune whereupon he turned to steevoring, drove test cars, learned to fly, and became an announcer. Later, as a free-lance correspondent for Trans Radio Press, Cooley covered Europe. All of which gave him an invaluable background as a writer and one of television's top creative producers.

From technical director on Cecil B. De Mille productions he gravitated to television. He created original sets for the Perry Como show, sold TV's first million-dollar show and gave many of today's big-name singers their first TV break.

It was during a sabbatical year of roaming through Central America that Cooley began "The Run for Home," an action-packed narrative of a pre-med student who signs on as a deck-boy aboard a tropic trader which roves the Pacific. He is catapulted into manhood in a story that takes him through brutal fights, first love, deaths, and desertion, to a tense climax in a darkened pierhead in San Francisco.

With Mrs. Cooley, another Lee Cooley, he likes to seek out investment properties and develop them, whether in Long Island, Fire Island, Florida or Balboa, California.

Ask Lee Cooley: "How does one become a top television producer?" and he would probably say: "Live a full life. Two of my most important contracts, totaling more than two million, were signed because I knew a trout fishing hat when I saw one."

It's Chicken Every Sunday

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK — UPI — The American scene changes so rapidly most of us can't keep track. But it's happy news that in an era of sports cars, stereophonic sound and satellites, one great tradition remains.

We are a "chicken every Sunday" nation. Our favorite dining spot also is the kitchen, we are a land of desert eaters, and not so many of us are dieting as the propagandists would have you think.

These are some of the findings from a study of our eating habits, made by Market Research Corp., at a cost of $750,000.

Market Research said this is the first such comprehensive study ever made — "we've collected enough facts to keep us busy sorting for the next five years," said Edward Walzer, director of communications. "I think we will know just about everything there is to know about eating."

Statistically, the study is staggering — some 30 million facts, gathered from 4,000 families with 14,000 members. The families, part of the organization's standard consumer panel, recorded their daily dining mores in diaries for a one-year period. They represented all income groups and all parts of the country.

Six big food companies, General Foods, General Mills, Pillsbury, Campbell Soup, Quaker Oats and R. T. French, footed the bill. They will use the study in developing new products and marketing the old.

One of the questions concerned Sunday dining and answers showed that poultry made up 32 per cent of the menu; casseroles, 11 per cent; foreign dishes, nine; soup, nine; fish, seven; stews, seven; and hash, five. The study also will indicate the percentage of meat in the Sunday menu, as soon as electronic computers can sort the answers.

Almost three-fourths of all family meals are eaten in the kitchen, the study showed. "But give us a dining room and we'll use it," commented one housewife in protest to modern home architecture. Breakfast, in terms of number of meals served, also is a bigger meal than either lunch or dinner. It also is the one most regularly eaten at home.

"We found no lag in dessert eating," said Walzer. "Desserts are featured almost as frequently for week-days as Sunday, but in less complex form. Apple pie and cheese are not the all-American dessert; apple pie and ice cream are more popular."

Only 10 per cent of the women and six per cent of the men were on reducing diets.

Officers to Be Installed at Luncheon

Installation of new officers will feature the April meeting of the Women's Association of the Palm Springs Community Church which will be a salad-dessert luncheon next Tuesday at 12:30 p.m., in the social hall. Those attending are asked to bring their own table service and a dish to share.

Dr. James H. Blackstone Jr. will install Mrs. James H. Carlisle, who has been re-elected to the presidency, and the following new officers: Mrs. Frank Miller, vice president; Mrs. John Williams, treasurer; Mrs. Charles McDonald, secretary; Mrs. George Chapman, program chairman.

The devotional will be led by Mrs. Wilson Hall and Mrs. Adele Calderhead will sing the beautiful sacred song "Consider the Lilies" by Scott.

Of great interest will be the drawing of names that will change the membership of all the Circles which makes for a better acquaintance among the Association members. Mrs. Carlisle is extending a cordial invitation to all who wish to join to do so now and be assigned to a Circle.

A nursery will care for small children during the meeting.

Shrine Club Dinner on April 21st

One of the most important events of each Palm Springs Shrine Club season, the Chi Chi dinner dance, will take place Tuesday, April 21, when the Villagers play host to Al Malaikah dignitaries and their ladies.

Irwin Schuman, Chi Chi owner, has assured President Max Grone that entertainment booked for the occasion will equal or surpass anything seen in his room this year.

With cocktails starting at seven, this final social event on the current Shrine calendar will be a testimonial to the unprecedented activity of the new officers, directors and committeemen whose unspared efforts have made this the fastest growing club in Al Malaikah jurisdiction.

Reservations are going fast. All Shriners and Masonic friends planning to attend are urged by Bob Winslow, first vice president, to make their arrangements without delay by phoning FA 5-2121.

Woman's Club's Escorts Night Well Attended

Escorts Night at the Palm Spring's Woman's Club rewarded the large attendance with outstanding entertainment. Ramona Gerhard, organist-pianist, excelled in her performance on the Hammond organ, and with a group of piano selections. through, keeping the right elbow in and holding the head down. The left hand also turns the left hip out of the way. And, fourth, if the left hand maintains control throughout the swing, the hands will finish in a strong high position. This series shows a true one-piece swing.

Indians Edge Broncs To Win 4th Straight

Palm Springs Indians notched their fourth win out of four starts in the current Riverside County League baseball race Thursday when they pushed across two runs in the last inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and win at Banning against the Banning Broncs, 4 to 2.

Bobby Flores was on the mound for the Tribe and was touched for six hits but showing perfect control. He walked none and fanned four.

MARTY BERR, second baseman, ran his string of hits in consecutive games to four and now has 8 out of 15 for a .533 average.

Coach George Scholl's training on defense showed up again when the Tribe made but one error in the field. Banning bumbled eight times and the Indians took advantage of all their mistakes.

BANNING WENT ahead by one run in the fourth 2-1 but the Indians equalized it in the sixth and then went on to win in the top of the seventh.

Joe Lewis reached first on an error, Leo Segundo singled him on and both came home with the winning runs when a Bronco outfielder lost N. Ruiz' long fly.

The line score:

Palm Springs	001 001 2-4 5 1
Banning	001 100 0-2 4 0

Flores and Lewis: Kettering and Beach.

Senators, Reds Lead Majors, at Least for Today

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press International

Washington and Cincinnati were living it up in first place today and they can both dream, can't they—until tonight, anyway.

Generally picked to finish last, the Senators broke on top by beating Baltimore, 9-2, in the American League opener at Washington Thursday while the Reds got off winging with a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh in the National League inaugural at Cincinnati.

Don't go stampeding the Washington and Cincinnati offices for World Series tickets yet, however, because the standings could be revised tonight after all the remaining clubs swing into action.

Casey Stengel goes after his 10th pennant in 11 years when the Yankees open their season against the Red Sox at Yankee Stadium.

Cleveland opens at Kansas City where another crowd of 25,000 is expected.

Chicago is at Detroit in the only other American League game scheduled.

Southpaw Warren Spahn (22-11) will do the pitching for the Braves when they open defense of the National League championship against the Pirates at Pittsburgh. A crowd of 34,000 will cheer on Pirate ace Bob Friend (22-14).

Two night games are on tap. San Francisco will be at St. Louis in one of them and Cincinnati at Philadelphia in the other.

Third for Bears

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The University of California won an unprecedented third straight national intercollegiate rifle team championship Thursday.

Bold Ruler's Record

FIGHT RESULTS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gil Cadill, 131, San Francisco, drew Ernesto Figueroa, 130, Mexico City, (10).

Two Teams Tie In Thunderbird Golf Tournament

A portion of the more than 250 golfers involved in the Thunderbird Country Club's Fifth "Out Of This World" tournament headed for the links again today in an attempt to break the ties that have knotted the leaders in the tourney.

Arnold Boscacci and Marty Welsh put together the low net 30 here yesterday but so did Charles Price and Bob Stickleber.

THAT WASN'T THE only competition. Five, count 'em, five, teams knotted up at 60 for third place in the first day of the three day meet.

All bunched up were B. Metzger and Dr. L. Evans, Ken Evans and Murray Arnold, Fred Whitman and Sv Walton, Julius Peterson and Warren Webb, and Sherwood Egbert and Charles Heinz.

Some of the leaders head for the links today, but some will not fire their final 18 holes until tomorrow.

BOSCACCI and Welsh didn't have the dual honor problem in low gross totals. They grabbed it, lock-stock, with a 65, while Gene Rosencaci and John Buono had a 69, good for second. Another mass of golfers — four teams — jammed up for third place.

Low net score will determine the winner of the tournament with special prizes scheduled for low gross winners.

Yesterday's scores:

LOW GROSS — Arnold Boscacci (4), Marty Welsh (14), 69-2. Gene Rosencaci (4), John Buono (8), 69-2. Ted Arnold (4), John Buono (8), 69-2. Ted Arnold (4), John Buono (8), 69-2.

NET (net full handicaps) — The between A. Boscacci and C. Heinz, 50 each. B. Metzger and Dr. L. Evans, 50 each. C. Heinz and Dr. L. Evans, 50 each. D. Evans and Dr. L. Evans, 50 each.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: In a weak moment I let my mother talk me into asking a big fat cow with no personality to the Spring formal at school. Her mother is always crying to my mother how this girl has no dates. Well, when I asked her I didn't have any other girl in mind, but now a lot of things have happened and there is a real doll I would like to ask but I am stuck with this cow. Is there any way I can get out of taking her so I can take the girl I like? Would it be wrong to ask a friend of mine to take her as a favor?

STUCK WITH A COW
DEAR STUCK: You can't switch horses (or cows) in mid-stream without causing a lot of embarrassment for you, the doll and the cow-girl and both the mothers. Take the girl you asked. It only hurts for a little while.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was sent to prison for four years and he doesn't believe I'll wait for him that long. We have two children and I don't intend to break my marriage vows. I love him very much and I AM going to wait for him and remain faithful. How can I make him believe me and not lose faith in me? Please help me. I'm not very good with words. "A"

DEAR "A": You are magnificent with words because they express exactly what is in your heart. Your husband will never grow tired of hearing you say, "I love you, Darling, and I WILL wait for you." Say it again and again and again in every letter as often as you can write him. He'll believe you.

DEAR ABBY: I was called out of town by the death of a relative and was gone a week. When I returned I found some glass beads on the kitchen floor which surely had been from a broken string. They were clear glass and I have nothing like them in the house. When I asked my husband about it, he said they were dried mothballs. Anyway they were round glass with a hole through the middle. Do mothballs come that way? And if they do, don't they always smell like mothballs. Am I losing my mind or is he lying to me?

DEAR WIFE: A man who can convince his wife that a glass bead is a dried mothball is a pretty good salesman. You are losing your mind only if you believe him.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I am foolish but here's my problem. I'm in my thirties and I'm married and have four children, but there are certain things I cannot do. For instance when I am buying a dress, I don't like the saleslady in the dressing room with me. I am sometimes too shy to ask her to wait outside, so I won't try the dress on unless she offers to stay outside. Should I try to get over this, or do you think it is not so bad to be like I am?

VERY BASHFUL
DEAR VERY: You are a trifle over-modest, but there are many women who feel the same way. Ask the saleslady if she'd mind waiting outside. She'll understand.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BOB AT THE FRAT HOUSE: Anyone who gets out of the shower to answer the telephone is all wet.

'Peculiar Looking Pair' Enjoy Sukiyaki Luncheon

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the thirteenth of a series by Harold N. Beck, Village resident who formerly owned the Ocean-side daily paper and now owns the Azusa weekly publication, detailing his impressions of an around-the-world tour.)

By HAROLD N. BECK

YOKOHAMA, Japan — If you have a weak back and your feet hurt, do not try to act like a Japanese. I did.

My father and I enjoyed a sukiyaki luncheon, but we must confess that there are things we do more gracefully than emulating the Japanese. Two of the foremost requirements were that we remove our shoes and that we sit on the floor. We must have been a peculiar looking pair as we sat stiff backed with our long legs grotesquely protruding from under the low table.

The two comely Japanese maidens waiting on us could not control their giggles. They would be performing the very serious ceremony of preparing the sukiyaki before us on the table when suddenly they would break out in laughter at our squirming. We could not blame them though, for we must have looked very silly trying seriously to act like Japanese.

SUKIYAKI, ONE OF the prize Japanese dishes, is a delicious mixture of meat and vegetables cooked before your eyes in a chafing dish. Into a shallow pan are placed thin slices of beef with onions, bean curd, mushrooms and other vegetables. It is called sukiyaki because originally the blade of a "suki" (plow) did duty for a pan, and the word "yaki" means grilling or roasting.

After we were "comfortably" seated on pillows, the two first things served us were steaming towels tightly rolled. Truthfully, we did not know just what to do with them until the Japanese waitresses made motions that we should wipe our hands. Anyone watching this little episode would have been amused, for the Japanese girls could not speak English and had to gesture every request they made. They pointed at the towels and made motions of wiping the hands, giggling all the time, and we responded by going through certain motions to be sure we properly understood.

We were in a typically Japanese room, behind sliding doors, and every once in awhile a distinguished Japanese gentleman, probably the maitre d' — if they have such — would peek in and grin from ear to ear as he observed our uncomfortable state.

PARTICULARLY AMUSING was one stage of the meal when our Japanese girls kept piling more and more food into the chafing dish. We realized we could not possibly eat it all, delicious as it was, so we made motions of a protruding stomach. Instead of halting the ceremony of piling high the dish, the girls just giggled and put in more. After patting our stomachs several times we gave up and became gluttons.

We finally decided we could not finish the sukiyaki, went through gestures to show we had enjoyed it immensely, pulled our long, paralyzed legs from under the low table, limped out of the room, donned our shoes.

Our two pretty Japanese attendants giggled once again, the maitre d' bowed to the waist, the entire serving staff of several other Japanese bowed as we made our exit, and we were gone.

ANOTHER JAPANESE luncheon we tried was tempura, which is a mixture of fish and vegetables dipped in batter and fried in deep fat. With it was served warm sake, the popular Japanese drink that is made from rice. Of course there is also green tea which is popular in Japan.

Japanese pay particular attention to their food preparation. Arrangement of the raw foods for the sukiyaki luncheon on a large silver platter was a gourmet's dream. Special attention is paid to color, for the appetite of a Japanese is flattered through the eye. This may explain why Japanese soups, except for the traditional bean soup at breakfast, are always clear. One can thereby admire the bits of flower-shaped vegetables and the pearly eye of a fish in the bottom of a bowl of black laquer.

WE DID NOT PARTAKE of a formal Japanese dinner but a description of such a dinner proves interesting. A formal meal consists of one soup and three dishes, two soups and five dishes, or three soups and seven dishes.

First comes the soup tray containing soup, raw fish, and other foods with which is served sake. When this tray has been removed, the first, second and third trays of the meal proper are brought in. The first tray is placed straight in front of the diner, the second to the right of the first, and the third to the left.

The diner takes the lids from the covered bowls, places them on the right side of the right tray and on the left side of the left tray. The order in which he eats the food is rice and soup, rice and the farther bowl, rice and the near dish, rice and the original soup, and so on. When everything in the first tray has been tasted, the second is tasted in the same order and then the third. After that the diner may eat in any order he pleases.

Japanese love raw fish. I am one westerner who thinks raw fish is nauseous to the taste, and refused to try it. Perhaps in time I could get used to sitting cramped on the floor with shoeless feet dangling and eating raw fish, but for the time being I make a very poor Japanese.

Gardening in the Desert

Indigenous to our desert the Creosote Bush to many appears to have become a blot on the surroundings, mostly because it appears so straggly and only half alive in the dry desert sand. Actually if the Creosote Shrub is watered, cared for, and trimmed frequently it can become attractive and useful.

Misnamed Greasewood by many people, even some oldtimers, it can advantageously be used in a corner of your lot and, as it spreads, may become not too thick a shade for Azaleas, Camellias and other shade-requiring garden plants.

WE HAVE NEVER come across the real Greasewood at this elevation mainly because it needs an altitude of over 2000 feet to really thrive. Greasewood or Sarcobatus vermiculatus (as the horticultural experts named it) is a succulent plant and its leaves are grayish green, thicker than the leaves of the yellowish-green of the Creosote plant.

If, after the very infrequent rains, you wander close to Cresote you will note a peculiar resinous odor which some people enjoy and others detest. There is a huge Creosote on the other side of our back fence where, at present, a house is being built. We studied the miserable plant one day and, taking pity on it, we watered it.

ALTHOUGH IT IS deep in the sand that has blown and heaped up around its almost invisible trunk the infrequent rains and our infrequent watering has brought it to life. At present it is covered with the usual, tiny yellow flowers.

If a busy bulldozer does not pull the whole thing out when leveling the soil methinks we'll suggest to the occupant that he bring the choking sand to ground level, cut away all the deadwood and give the shrub a chance to thrive. With a little watering it will bear tiny yellow flowers most of the year. This is a rather long dissertation on the lowly Creosote but we will miss it if it disappears.

YOU MAY HAVE noticed that mostly we lay off those plants that give us no winter bloom. However, as more and more residents spend longer periods in the desert—thanks to refrigerated cooling—we will occasionally mention such shrubs as the Scarlet Bottle Bush. This is a full-size shrub and drought resistant. Five or six feet is about its major height and it has not too wide a spread. Sometimes, with good gardening, it will show its splendor for almost two thirds of the year.

The Canary Bird Bush is another winter delinquent. Its graceful chartreuse clusters will help decorate the garden from late June to late November. It seems to have no peculiar choice of soil as long as the soil contains a plenitude of plant life. This is also another sun lover.

YOUR POINSETTIA cuttings should be ready for planting or probably planted by now as there is little or no probability of frost locally. When young these cuttings should be watered frequently, keeping the soil damp but not soggy. The soil in which they are planted should have previously been lightly fertilized and soaked.

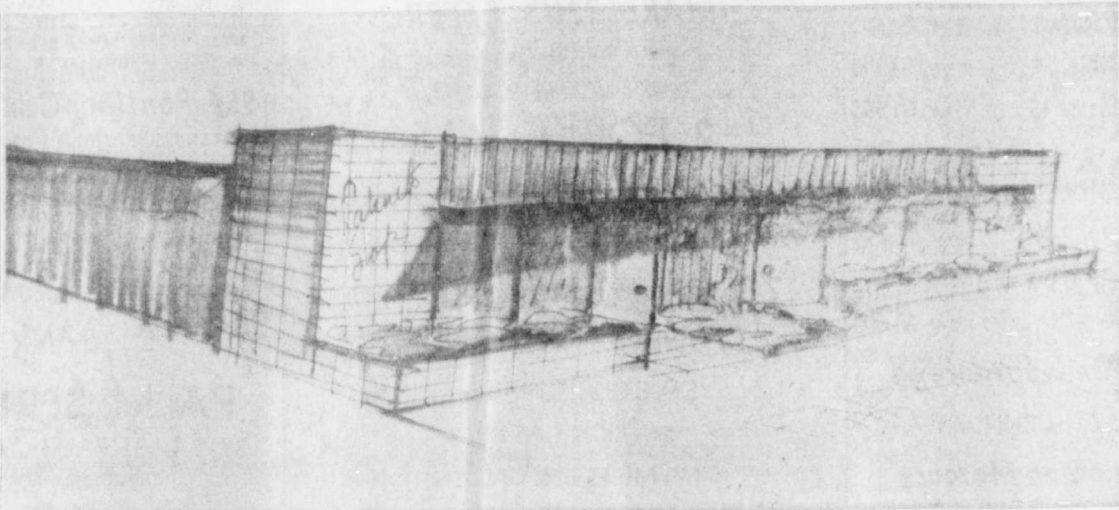

After the new leaves are generously showing a monthly feeding with iron sulphate will aid the growth and strengthen the thin trunk. The purpose of iron sulphate is to cultivate a good root system and it should be sprinkled in a circular trench at least three inches away from the trunk then covered with soil and watered.

Young Poinsettias, to go through the summer heat, should either be artificially shaded or planted on the north side of the house if you crave a good showing before Christmas. The north side of a fence is a poor place to consider planting Poinsettias; Old Sol throws his heat right through a fence or brick wall and Poinsettias would naturally suffer.—T.G.M.

Pioneer Title Sets Open House

The largest and most modern title plant in San Bernardino County will open its doors for public inspection on April 17 at its new address, 340 Fourth Street in San Bernardino.

Twiss-Wittenberg, general contractors, will present the keys of the completed building to President Ralph L. Horne at ribbon-cutting ceremonies, 2 p.m., Friday. "Open House" will last until 7 p.m.

AN ARTIST'S RENDERING is shown of the new office building constructed by Cornelius Maffie Properties on Williams Road near Ramon Road. The building has been completed and contains two stores which are now available for rental. The plans were drawn by C. W. Coby of Palm Desert. The stores have all utilities and are air conditioned.

STARTING NEW DIGGINGS for another section of Palm Springs Country Club Estates subdivision, Pauline Boltz turns the first groundbreaking shovel. Mrs. Boltz and husband J. Walker Boltz have flashed the starting signal for construction of 97 new California Dream Homes, valued at $1,600,000. The development, located off Ramon Road just east of the city limits, now boasts 246 completed and occupied homes. The new Unit 4 features two, three and four-bedroom homes available with FHA or G.I. financing. Looking on as

Mrs. Boltz breaks ground for the first units, scheduled for completion in early July, are, left to right, home builder Arthur King, Herbert Samson, manager of Security-First National Bank, escrow firm for the development; Mrs. Helen Patterson, Security-First National escrow officer, and Bob Jones, vice president of Palomar Mortgage Company, San Diego, financing agent for the new homes. All of the 97 units feature two baths and built-in electric or gas kitchens. (Desert Sun Photo)

PRETTY PRINCESS EL DORADO watches as T. C. McMillan, president of El Dorado Palms Estates, hands $1,000 bonus check to sales director Kirk Kirkwood for record breaking sales at the swank development bordering Indian Wells Country Club. All home sites in Unit No. 1 were sold in less than 30 days after formal opening. Unit No. 2 is now opening and a complete sell-out is anticipated within the next 90 days. Furnished model homes, decorated by the desert's outstanding decorators are open daily and Sunday for inspection.

"INVISIBLE EAR" OPENS WORLD OF SOUND

Now a marvelous new electronic discovery, "Target Hearing," opens the world of sound in a way never before possible.

The "Invisible Ear," a tiny pinpoint opening, has an amazing sensitivity that allows the hard of hearing to lift the curtain of silence to a wonderful new world. Now people called "deaf" hear clearly in church, theatre, business conferences, etc. "Target Hearing" lets you hear where you look. Conversation, music, can be heard naturally and effortlessly, with a clarity so unique this remarkable invention has been granted a U. S. Patent.

"Target Hearing" does not resemble a hearing aid. The hard-of-hearing person himself, can be the only one who knows, unless he tells people he is wearing it, because there are no cords or buttons to cause embarrassment. There's nothing to wear behind the ear, in the hair or in the clothing; a tiny, almost invisible tube leads to the ear.

You owe it to yourself to get full, free information on "Target Hearing." To obtain an authoritative new booklet describing this exciting electronic miracle, write to Bureau of Public Information, Otation Research Laboratories—

909 Post Road, Ossining, New York. It will be mailed to you FREE without obligation in a plain wrapper.—Adv.
